

Melissa Cowan and Nicole Blohm To Speak at International Claim Association 2024 Annual Education Conference

Burke Insurance Coverage and Litigation partner and practice group co-chair Melissa M. Cowan will present ‘Scams, Lies, and Videotape: Litigating Suspicious Long-Term Care Insurance Claims’ at the International Claim Association 2024 Annual Education Conference on Monday, September 9, from 3 pm to 4:15 pm CDT. Melissa will analyze cutting-edge issues in the legal landscape of fraud, waste, and abuse in the Long-term Care insurance space. In this lively discussion of recent cases, she will provide valuable insight into how judges and juries view questionable insurance claims. You will walk away with a new appreciation for resourceful investigations and innovative litigation strategies.

Insurance Coverage and Litigation partner Nicole Y. Blohm will co-present ‘Disability Legal Year in Review’ as an IAC 2024 AEC panelist on Tuesday, September 10, from 8:30 am to 10:00 am CDT. Highly respected insurance litigation defense attorneys from the East and West coasts will explore current trends in local and national litigation that impact the disability claim arena. This session is recommended for all claims professionals that manage IDI, Association and LTD claims, as well as in-house and outside defense counsel. Additional panelists include Robert Dubiel, AHLC, UNUM Group; Chris Collins, Of Counsel, and Joseph Hamilton, Of Counsel; Mirick O’Connell, DeMallie & Lougee, LLP.
