

Insurance Coverage and Litigation

Burke, Williams & Sorensen, LLP has a nationally renowned insurance coverage, litigation, and appellate practice in first and third-party insurance matters. Burke's litigators specialize in advising clients and litigating cases from start to finish in the areas of bad faith and punitive damages; life, health, disability, and accidental death and dismemberment insurance; long-term care and hospital indemnity insurance; ERISA pension and welfare benefit plans; property, casualty, and liability insurance; professional E&O insurance; health insurance; environmental coverage; complex litigation; class actions; and FINRA and financial services. Burke attorneys are frequent speakers at insurance industry conferences and seminars, such as the Defense Research Institute, the International Claims Association, the Association of Life Insurance Counsel, ACI, the Eastern Claims Conference, and the Western Claims Conference.

Our insurance attorneys provide legal services across the landscape of insurance issues, including evaluation of claims, coverage advice, policy drafting, and presentation or defense of claims. Our trial lawyers have decades of experience in litigating insurance disputes through trial, and in briefing and arguing appeals, some of which have resulted in published opinions.
