

Labor Relations

Burke, Williams & Sorensen, LLP is one of California's leading law firms in public sector labor negotiations and related matters. We advise and represent dozens of California cities, counties, school districts, transit districts, and special districts in all aspects of labor relations law. Our legal services include pre-negotiation planning and analysis, client meetings and presentations, preparation of proposals, leading or assisting with labor negotiating sessions, drafting of MOUs and collective bargaining agreements, and representation of our clients in mediation, fact-finding, and interest arbitration.

In related areas, we assist our public sector clients with defense of employee grievances and charges of unfair labor practices. As advocates, our lawyers zealously represent the firm's public entity clients in proceedings before the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB), Public Employment Relations Board (PERB), and other administrative agencies.
