

Public Law

For nearly 100 years, Burke Williams & Sorensen attorneys have advised and represented public agency clients throughout California, earning stellar reputations for providing ethical, knowledgeable, and practical legal solutions across the full scope of municipal law. Our clients encompass all types of public entities including: the State agencies, counties, cities, school districts, special districts, and joint powers authorities. Burke's municipal law capabilities and experience encompass rendering skillful day-to-day operational advice, managing complex transactions, and resolving challenging litigation and disputes.

Burke's California municipal law attorneys team their expertise and applied knowledge in land use and planning; environmental compliance; public finance; labor and employment; public contracting; civil litigation, real estate project development, general agency governance, and ethics laws to deliver full range legal solutions. Key areas of Burke's general municipal and public law practice are outlined below.
